KALEIDOSCOPE
1965

Shooting rays of color, motion meets the quiet of a slumbering land in flashes of light, clashing forces of action and inertia . . .
Sparked with the inspiration of man's molding hands,
Nature spills her waters and leaves, turbulent in the wake of running feet . . .
Racing skies and storm-split clouds mirror the student, poised in silhouette against newly-found vistas of scarlet and gold

Yesterday you stood on a corner for five minutes, waiting to cross a busy street in the city; today you are in Middlebury, a world of paths and pebbles, maples and mountains . . .
your thoughts are with nature, as a Chinese poet once sang: "There seems to be no one on the empty mountain . . .
and yet I think I hear a voice, where sunlight, entering a grove, shines back to me from the green moss."

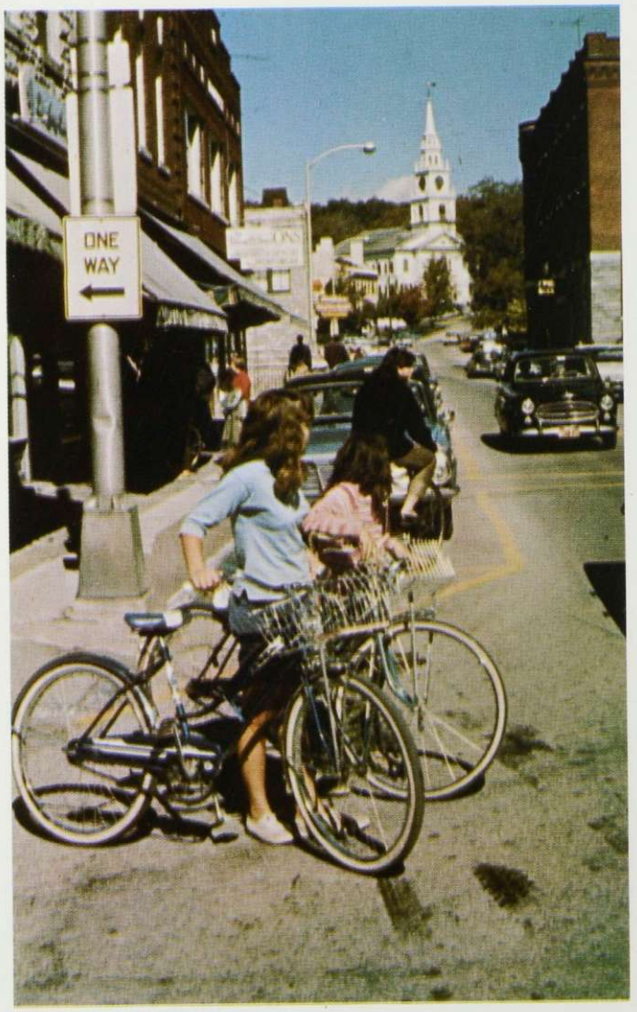
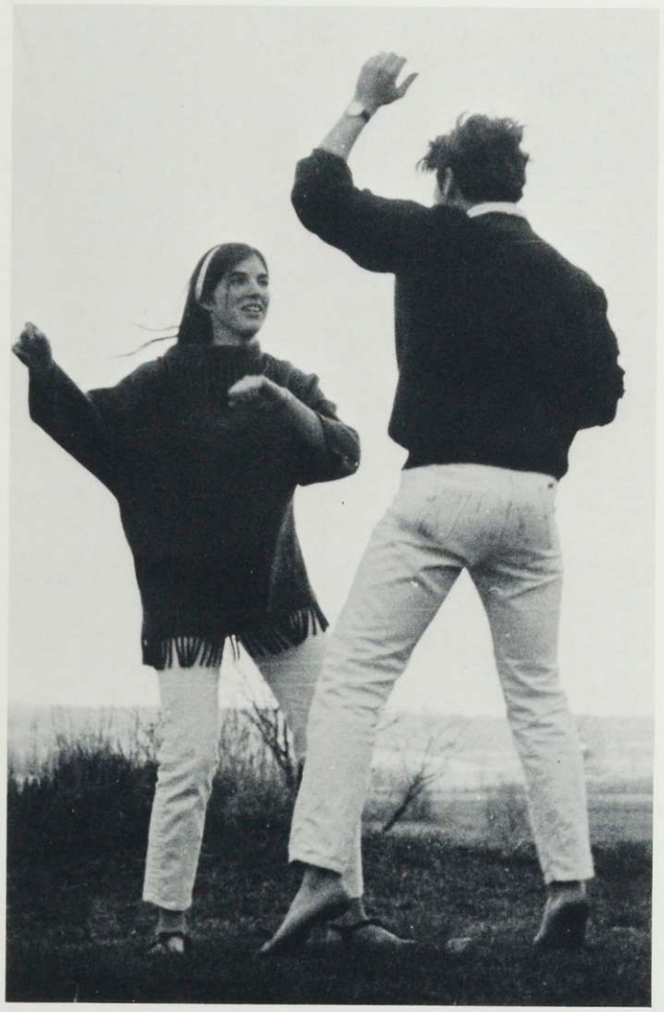
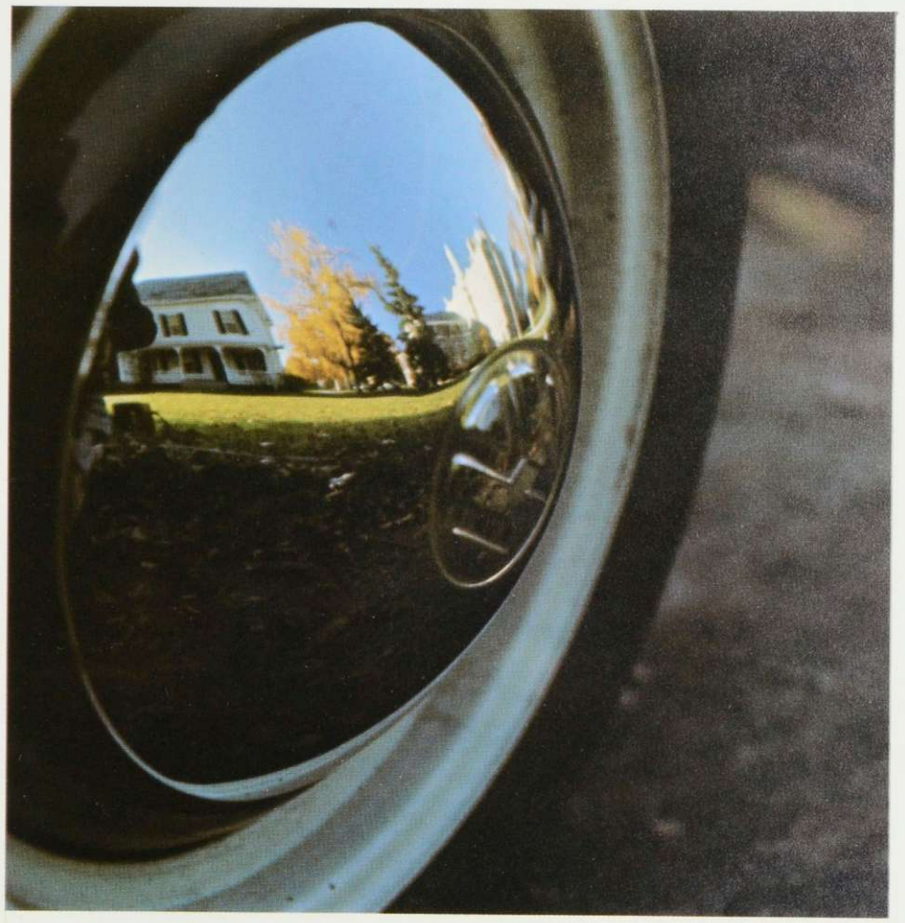
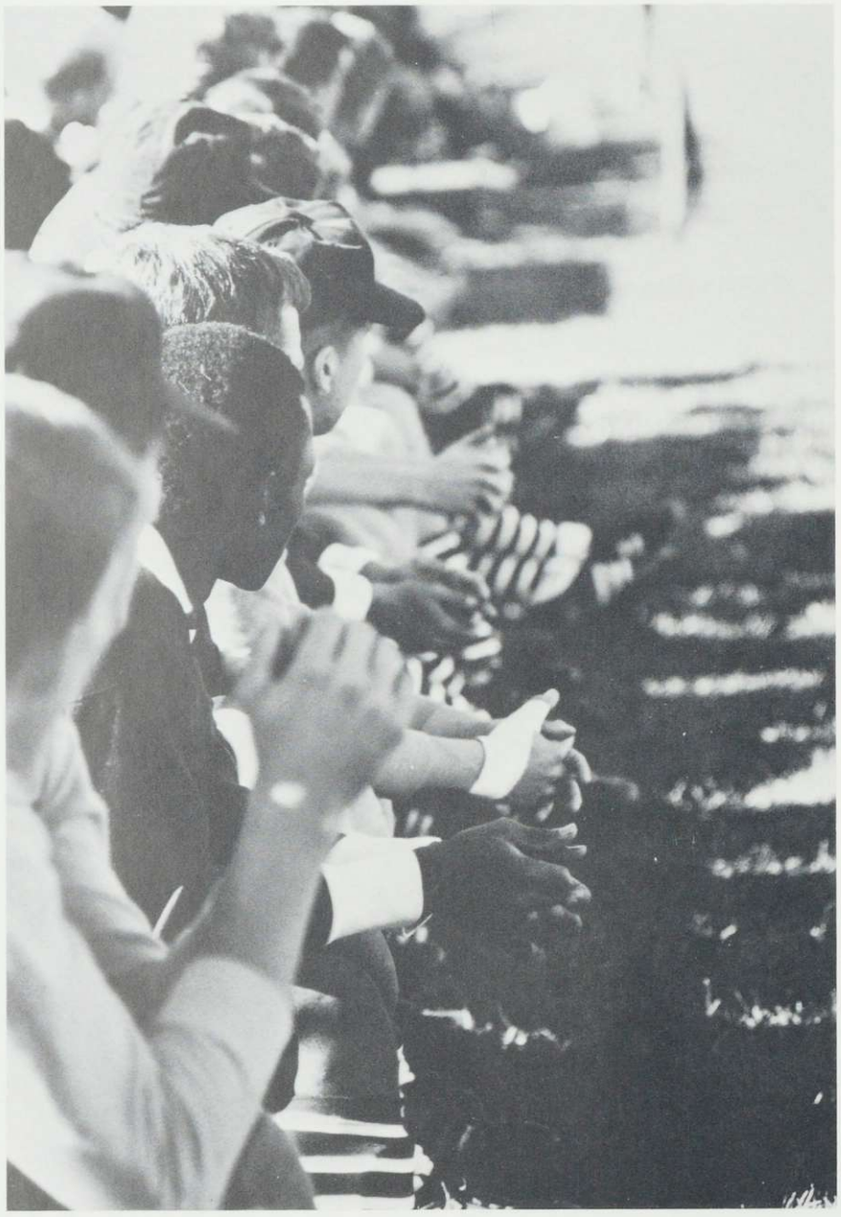
September is the time when you love everyone and run everywhere, taking steps two at a time . . . when you try new things and go new places, coasting all the way down the hill on a bicycle from Gifford into town . . . Impatience to begin flows through your veins and your cheeks flush with the reddening trees in tingling anticipation.

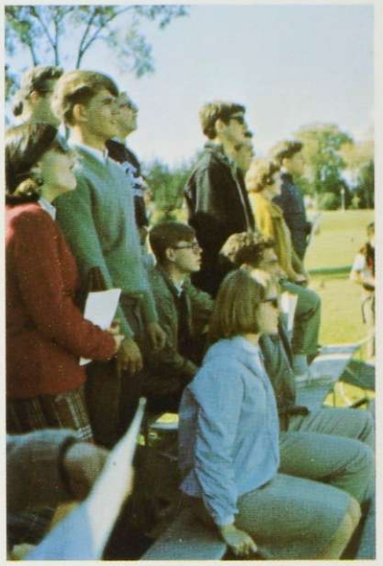




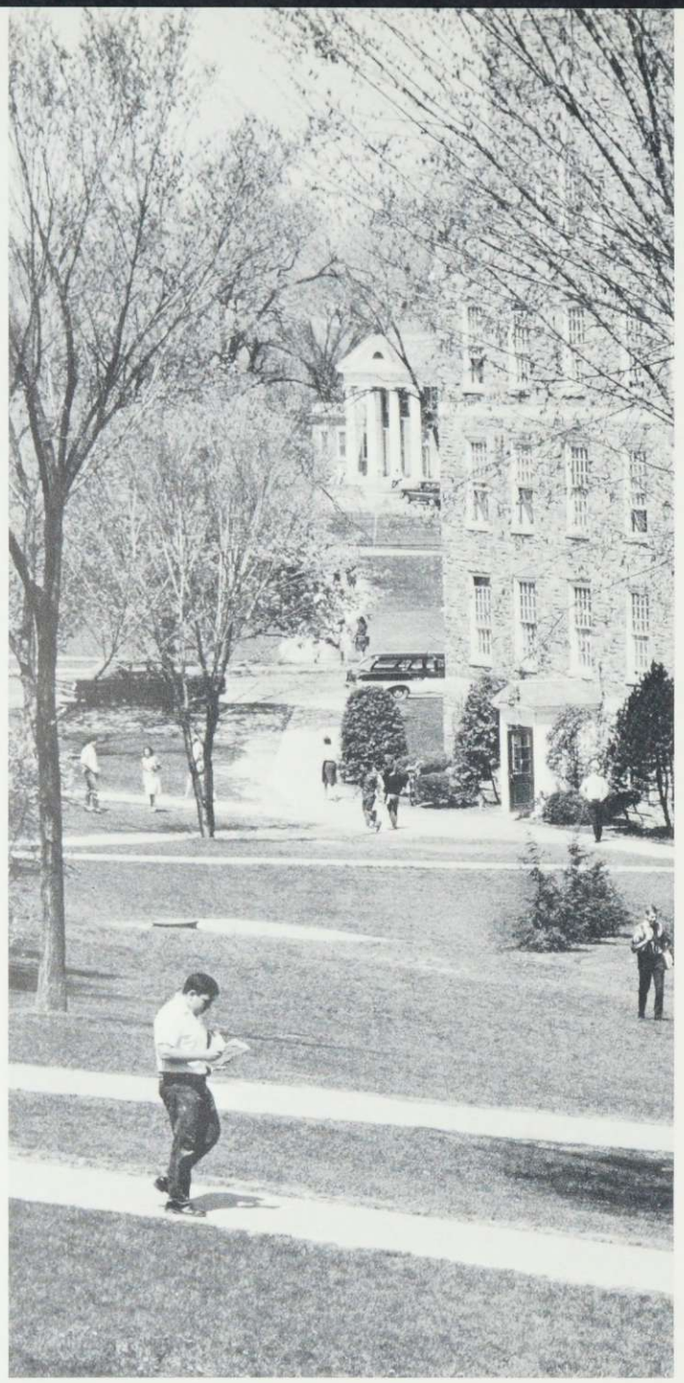


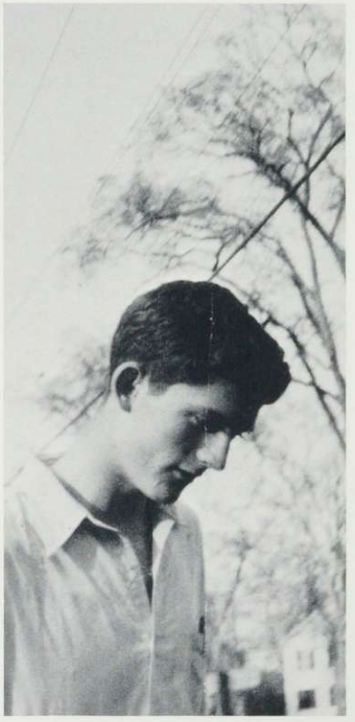
Remember that day when you first got so sick and tired of the routine of walking between classes, and you wanted to go somewhere, anywhere, just to get away, and you envied anyone who could do it, but you knew if you cut Bio you'd be sure to have a quiz, and besides, you didn't have a car, and it was too cold to hitch, and so you took it out on your roommate, and stalked off to classes, but somehow you made it through the day, until you finally grabbed your tray and almost broke the record, and things started to seem not so bad after all?





That moment of hushed expectancy holds you hypnotized with the blues and whites poised for action on the field . . . striped stockings swim in the nervous heat of anticipation, and slouched backs lock tense over clasped hands . . . a net hangs limp, taunting the kick that will break the silence and burst the spell.





You came here because you were drawn to the people . . . you liked the way they all seemed to know each other and enjoy the small college atmosphere. The boy in the old army jacket swinging a crosse and the girl with windblown hair riding past on a bicycle made you feel at home. They had so many different interests: theater, teaching, skiing, science, stock markets, music, classics, politics, poetry . . . but somehow they all fit here in the Vermont mountains. You came to Middlebury to be one of them. But once a part of Middlebury, you remained to find yourself a new person.

When the lights went out you groaned at first—no dorm heat, no studying, no television . . .
But then you paused in the dark and thought beyond the mountains and buildings silhouetted black against the moonlit sky. You gravitated to McCullough, to the noise of the gathering crowd and band blaring in cheerful nonchalance . . .
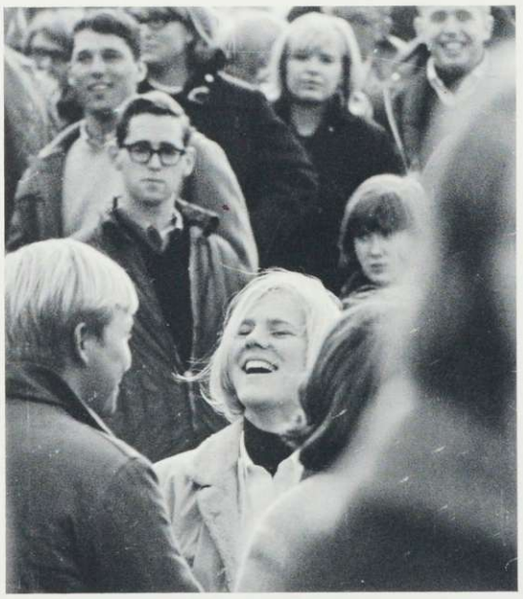
and, discarding your pattern of evening study,
you waited.



Porter Field floods with running figures of flashing blue and white as the crowd rises and falls with the referee's hand. You sit alone, one face among many caught up in the bustle and blare of football. The red flag falls; the gun resounds; the field and stands are emptied and silent. Pompons lie scattered and programs still, as the audience and band wind up the road to the campus carrying the song of victory.

The world, like the fish preached to in the stream, moves on in obedience to the laws of its being . . . It has its periods of illumination as well as of darkness, and often bounds forward a greater distance in a single year than in an age before. The rosy morning light of a great truth breaks upon the vision of some early riser—and straightway he wakes up the drowsy world with the announcement of the day and the work.
Sleepy people don't like to be disturbed. They hate the troubler, call him names, draw their curtains, close their blinds, turn their backs to the light—but the sun rises nevertheless.

Hallo

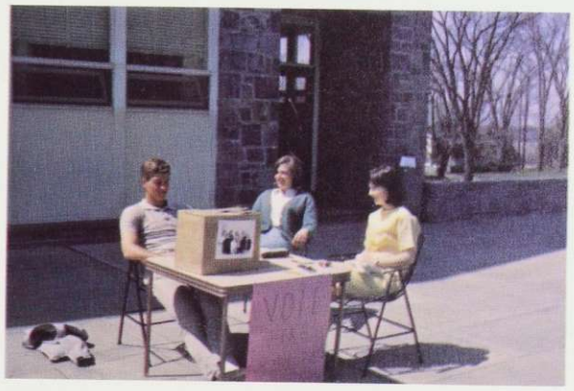
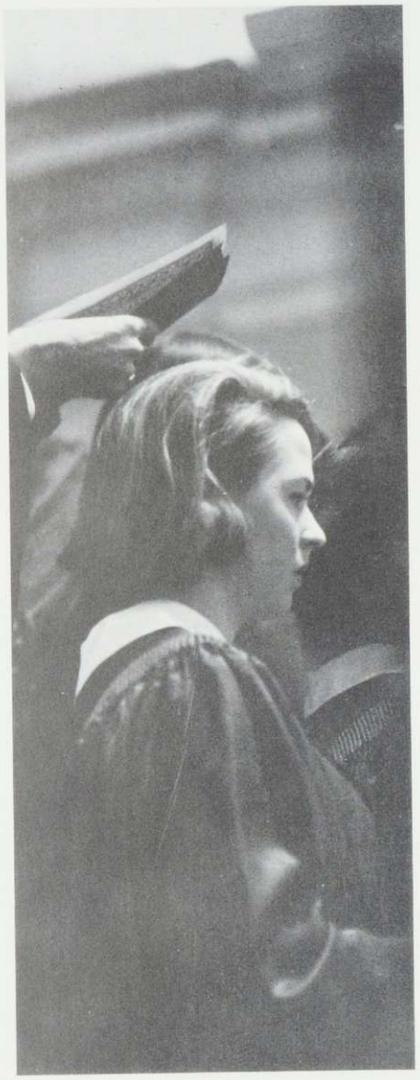
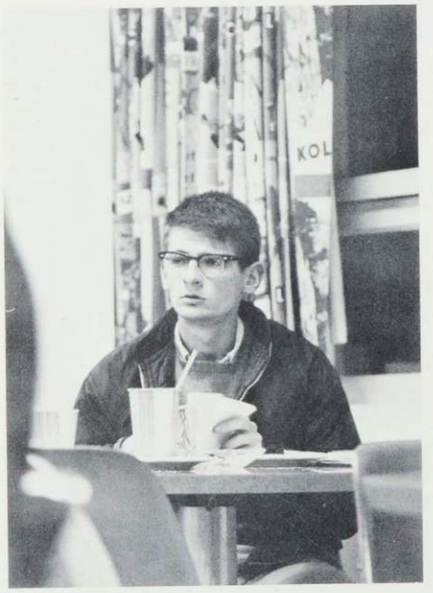
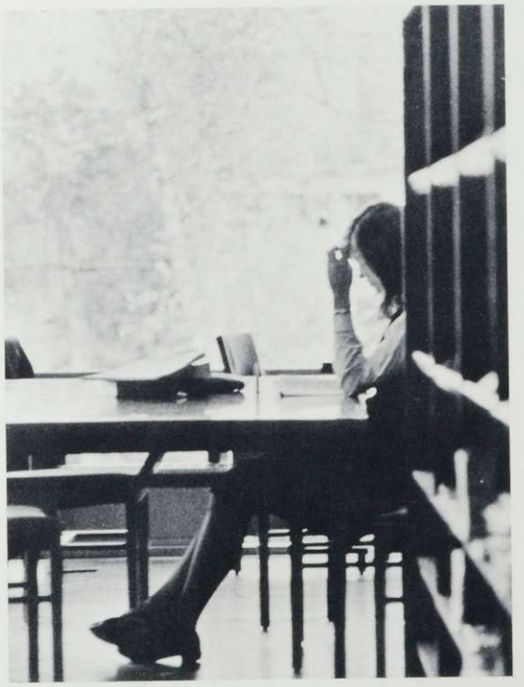
WORKS



College was a place you dreamed about in pony tails and white socks, a place with ivy curling up the walls and "Alma Mater" ringing across the campus . . . and now, here it is, as near as the white chapel spire against the blue-scarlet-gold of sky and leaf, as real as the chapel bells. chiming in the dusk. The blue pennant and Greek letters are so much a part of your life, that childhood awe is lost in familiarity. But now and then, when the band plays "Victory" after a touchdown, or when black-robed graduates file up the long chapel walk, there is something of the old pang of excitement that shines through the sophisticated composure.







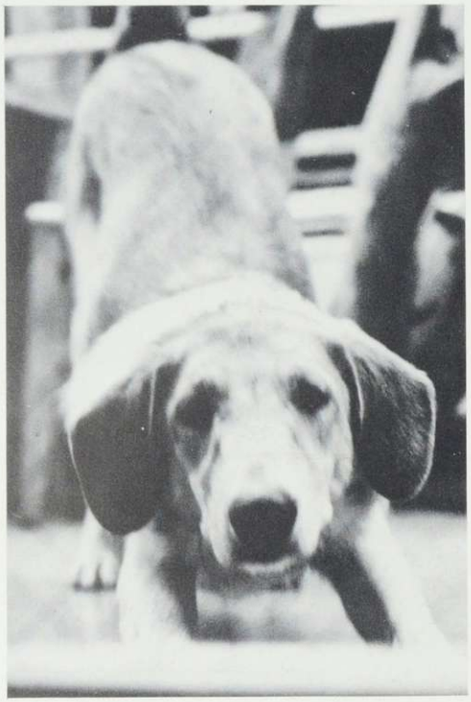
"I awake light-hearted this morning of spring,
Everywhere round me the singing of birds—
But now I remember the night, the storm,
And I wonder how many blossoms were broken."

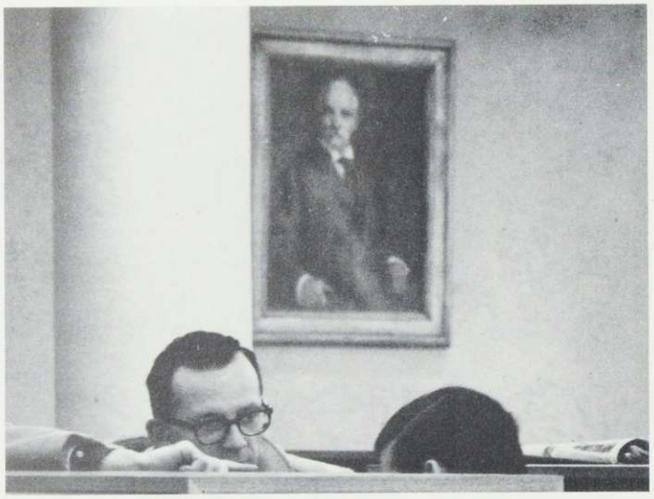
Meng Hao-jan

"It's snowing!" . . . buildings and branches seem to sprout softening gossamer and everything is silenced in the falling white world of winter. Boots crunch across obliterated paths, making measured footprints in the new snow . . . raised sleeves collect the patterns of melting lace on dark wool. The first snowball splatters on a back loaded with skiis, and shivering fingers are stuck in a smiling mouth for warmth. Darkening skies see the last stragglers winding their way back down the mountain to the campus, as a haloed moon rises on this first glittering day of snowfall.

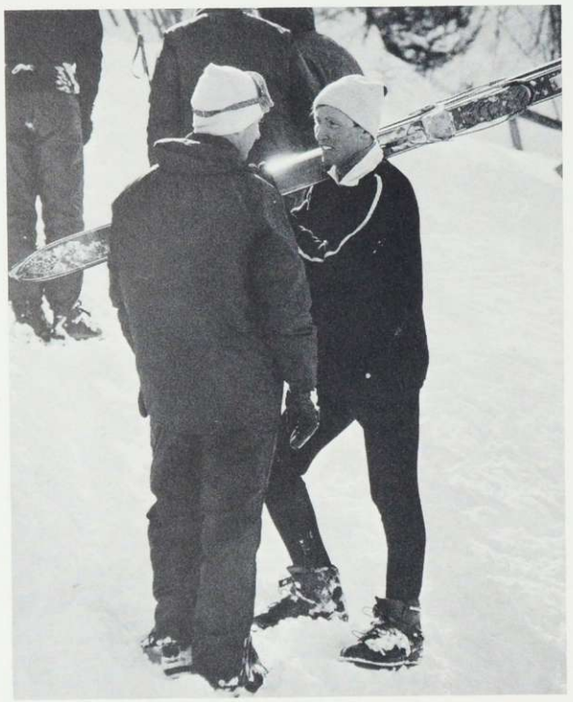
"We'd like to welcome you to our Middlebury, which we hope will soon become your Middlebury, too." . . . And you look on Ripton, Psal, and Breadloaf as new friends that need no formal introduction, but are always there. Somehow this Freshman Week feels like the lull before the storm—the storm of unknown warnings, Pre-A's, and challenges . . . But although the sun hides behind the Gap, you still can see each other's faces through the warm flush of common identity and discovery.

One day you leave your crowded table in the Crest Room with no explanation, just to get away from the maddening laughs and trivialities. Wandering across campus, you come upon a boulder in an empty field, or a deep leather armchair somewhere, and you sit for an hour in thought. Those lines written by a hermit poet drift through your mind and swathe you in daydreams: "I am discontent and would rest at the foot of the southern mountain. So give me leave and ask me no questions. White clouds will pass there without end."





There are days you want to go on being a student forever, discovering a dusty old manuscript in the library stacks, or understanding all at once the symbolism in a poem by Dylan Thomas, or seeing for the first time the intricate network of the circulatory system . . . days you wish that door at the end of the long dark corridor would always be open . . . and you could ask questions without end, and find someone waiting with an answer.



"A snow year, a rich year."
—Old English Proverb

47

Spring seems so far away when skiis are showered with snow and steps are iced with winter's cold . . . so far when puddles and dripping trees push you indoors to talk of parietals, or comps, or vacations down south. But one day it shines—on the brown bared earth, through rain-drops on red buds, in eyes gazing beyond class windows . . . and winter so far away, has melted in the sun.

FOOTBALL

If the 1965 soccer team provided the excitement of victory, the football team was exciting in its unpredictability. At the season's outset, Coach Nelson called his 65 outfit "the most inexperienced team I've ever coached." In the process of compiling its 2-5 record, Middlebury paid the price of inexperience. The green Panthers showed frequent flashes of brilliance, yet seldom could put together a whole game of solid football.

From a spectator's standpoint, the 1965 football season was an unqualified success. Though victories were scarce, exciting football was the norm. Midd fans found the football in the air much of the time; led by southpaw quarterback Tom Clark, Middlebury's offensive in '65 was much more explosive than in the past few years. In no game during the year were the Panthers thoroughly outclassed, and the possibility of the equalizing "long bomb" made for exciting viewing.

Undoubtedly, the highlight of 1965 football season was Middlebury's dramatic 14-12 win over tough state rival Norwich. This victory occurred the week following the game in which, as the NEW YORK TIMES explained, "RPI finally found (in Middlebury) a team it could beat" after 44 consecutive losses, spanning six years. The important aspect of the ignominous RPI defeat was the attitude it engendered. Rather than giving up, the team responded with vengence, shocking Norwich and allowing powerful UVM but seven points in the final game of the season.

The principle treat in reviewing the 1965 season lies in speculating Middlebury's future grid successes. The returning talent, developed under fire in '65, is considerable. As the season progressed six sophomores were able to crack the starting Panther unit. The names of Hoben, Boffey, Mygatt, Roller, McMahon, Callahan and others, insure a top-notch line next year, and some remarkable newcomers from the best freshman team in years will give '66 captain Paul Ford some talented backfield mates. Most difficult to replace are '65 co-captains Nick Van Nes and Dave Terry and Geoff Demong, who have given Middlebury three years of outstanding football.

November, when the Middlebury soccer team, officially rated number one in New England, was upset by third ranked Trinity in NCAA regional tournament play, the "longest" season came to an end.

The 1965 season actually started nearly a year before as the student body, disappointed at a presidential decision denying the excellent '64 team the post-season tournament participation it deserved, placed their hopes for tournament satisfaction in the talented performers returning for the '65 slate. Pressure on the 1965 team continued to build as Middlebury was chosen to compete against National Champion Navy in a pre-season clinic. The publicity surrounding this early encounter hailed Middlebury as one of the top teams in the nation.

After Middlebury had taken the field in its very first game, defeating Dartmouth (the previous year's spoiler to a perfect season), talk of an undefeated record was already generated on the Middlebury campus. Led by sparkplug forward, Dave Nicholson, by the team's inspirational leader, Bayard Russ, by "the best center-forward in Middlebury's history," Roger Herrmann, and by All-American candidate Dick Hall, the Panthers raced through the remainder of their regular season schedule without tasting defeat, their only blemish a hard-luck tie to Worcester Tech.

Coach Morrone called his '65 unit "the best ever" at Middlebury. Although National Championship hopes were crushed by Trinity's 2-1 upset win, Middlebury's New England rating placed the team in America's soccer elite. Team balance was the keynote to the '65 success. The Panthers were deep at every spot: Middlebury's high powered offense scored 35 goals and were never shut out; the defense, headed by 1966 co-captains Hall and Peter Kovner and All-American Davis Webb, allowed the opposition only 7 goals all season; goaltender Russ, backed up by "the best second string goalie around" in Freeman Allen, was one of the stingiest in the country with a .7 goals per game average.

SKIING

The 1965-66 Middlebury ski team was once again, with Dartmouth, the class of the East. The large carnival events in February found the Middlebury skiers right at the heels of, but never quite catching, their Indian rivals. In the Eastern Championships held at the Middlebury Winter Carnival, the defending champion hosts were edged by Dartmouth by a slim 2.3 margin.

After successful preliminary activity in open events, the Panther skiers were plagued by bad luck and finished second to a Dartmouth team of unusual balance and consistency in the Williams, Dartmouth, and Middlebury Winter Carnivals. Middlebury's inability to stand up in the Alpine events (traditionally dominated by Panther skiers) is cited as crucial. The Nordic representation was the strongest of the past few years. The top individual performance of the winter was sophomore John Morton's thrashing of the vaunted Rikert (Williams) and Beattie (Darmouth) in picking up a first in the cross-country in the Midd carnival.

Although not equalling the heroics of his junior year performances, Roger Buchika again in '65-66 established himself as the top collegiate Alpine skier. Joining Buchika to form an exciting Alpine trio were Downhill ace Erle Morse and versatile captain Tom Easton. The intensely dedicated Nordic team proved unusually formidable in this year's meets with Morton, Wells, Morse and Brodhead all performing capably. Ed Norton flashed an occasional image of the immortal Bower in his specialty, the Jump.

WOMEN'S SKIING—L. Fox, R. MacCormack, Mr. Kelton, S. Blanchette.

HOCKEY

Faced with the prospect of a losing season, the 1965-66 Middlebury hockey team roared through the second half of its schedule, winning nine of its last twelve games to finish with an even .500 record and fifth spot in ECAC Division II ranks. Highlighting the season was the individual play of senior center Wayne Halliwell and exciting victories over Dartmouth (2-1) at Hanover and RPI (4-3) in an overtime triumph as home.

In preseason speculation, Middlebury puck experts voiced considerable optimism concerning '65-66 fortunes. A large group of talented sophomores were joining a solid nucleus returning from last year's division leading squad. What had not been taken into consideration was that experience was necessary for the green sophs to bridge the large competitive gap between freshman play and varsity play.

VARSITY HOCKEY—Row 1: R. Degregorio, B. Watts, W. Halliwell, G. Walker, F. Allen, P. Treska, D. Hall, P. Brown. Row 2: Mgr. Russell, B. Doherty, K. Donovan, C. Jahncke, H. Fairman, S. Dunn, P. Kirkpatrick, A. Lindsey, D. Symonds, Mgr. Wheelwright.

As the year progressed, the youthful and veteran elements were molded into a unit capable of playing with the best small college teams in the East. Leading the Panther resurgence was Halliwell, the prolific scorer from Sudbury, Ontario, hard-checking defenseman, Freeman Allen, and steady net-minder, Pete Brown. In the explosion of victories near the end of the season, Halliwell's number 15 was an ubiquitous presence on the ice as he finished the season with forty-eight points (22 goals and 26 assists) to place him high among the division's leading scorers. Captain-elect Pete Brown's 3.61 goals per game average earned him the third position among the Division II goalies.

BASKETBALL

1965-66 was the most successful season in the last half decade of Middlebury basketball. The Panther team, though not winning, played exciting ball, and as the scores became closer, the crowds at Memorial Gymnasium became larger and more vocal.

Fired by the enthusiasm of second year coach, Gerald Alaimo, the team sparked flashes of brilliance on more than one occasion. Inconsistency and inconfidence were the constant plagues in Middlebury's game to game fortunes. Often, Middlebury would find itself wrapped up in a tense, exciting contest, only to encounter in the final moments the Phantom of Defeat that has menaced Middlebury over the past decade, wrenching sweet-tasting victory from the starved Panther hoopsters.

Middlebury basketball must look to the future for its glory. Except for Captain Charlie Ladd, the entire squad returns for the '66-67 season. Leading the returnees are scorer Dave Vanier, captain-elect Pete Roby, and sparkplug backcourtman Dave Nicholson. Team experience, help from the freshman club, and the continued dedication of Coach Alaimo should bring a certain amount of brightness to the picture as Middlebury climbs from the depths toward hoop respectability and, eventually, excellence.

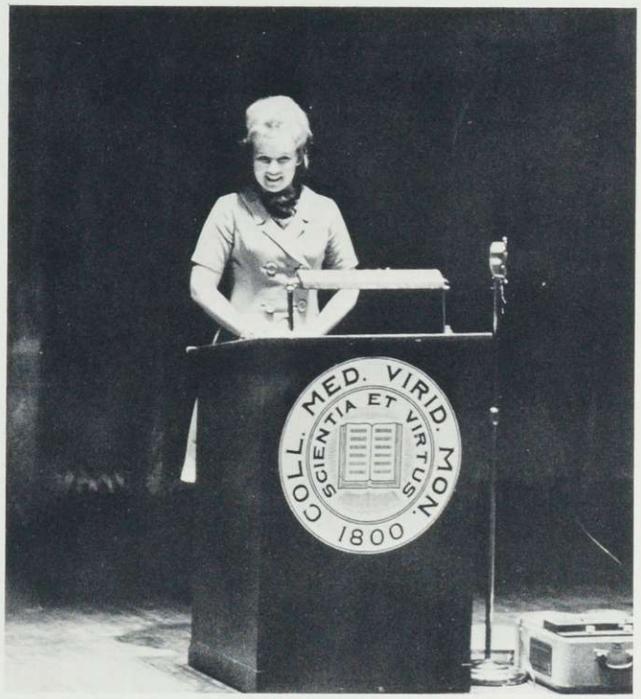
WOMEN'S FORUM—Row 1: A. Bienert, D. McNeil, C. Kreible, C. Sibley, S. Huff, L. Dunn. Row 2: L. Johnson, A. Miller, L. Powers, B. Zuck, J. Markland, J. Gratiot, G. Jones, D. Hayford, R. Hamblin, K. Bugni, S. Lee, B. Kleinschmidt, S. Weaver, G. Summerton, M. Brine.

Campus worship . . . a translation of religious commitment into meaningful forms of service.

Parading in your Halloween costume, along with the other six-year-olds . . . hawking peanut-butter and jelly sandwiches to a hungry dorm after hours . . . twisting arms to buy AMB tickets "for a worthy cause" . . . guiding small fingers up a discordant piano scale: an understanding between two Middlebury communities in the work and play of the Women's Forum.

RELIGION CONFERENCE—Row 1: S. Shaw, S. Hanyen, S. Banister, F. vanSlooten. Row 2: S. Rugg, J. Johnston, C. Tweedy. Row 3: F. Hauberg, J. Valby, B. Pierce, E. Rudnik, N. Brown, L. Fox.



Sunday's Chapel service organized and operated by Chapel Board . . . weekly trips to Brandon Training School for the mentally retarded, our Christian field service . . . God in gray granite and grateful faces. "Revolution in Morality" with Benjamin A. Reist . . . a look beyond conventional black robes and pews, hymn books and prayers . . . from hot dogs and coffee at football games, a new view of Christianity.

CHAPEL BOARD—Row 1: F. Hauberg, C. Steere, R. McKenzie. Row 2: M. Harrington, N. Tillinghast, D. Marvin, K. Terhune, C. Sibley, D. McNeil, L. Fox, B. Upson, C. Swanson. Row 3: C. Wilderman, R. Palin, J. Brown, F. Meyers, J. Sawyer.

DEBATE—Row 1: B. Pearce, S. Bowdish, J. Jardine. Row 2: G. Sprague, B. Austin, S. Mallan. Row 3: R. Horovitz, T. Flahive, P. De Yoe, J. Laboda, C. Whiley, Mr. Bowman, D. Breen.

Cigar smoke and clenched teeth are not my idea of politics . . . I want to find a frame for my ideas . . . to rebuild the Republican Party in my own mind . . . and to campaign for a new concept in politics from my Middlebury base.

RESOLVED: That law enforcement agencies should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime. With this in sixty-six, I shall meet new people and new approaches to the positive and the negative . . . seek a new concept of communication . . . and exercise the uniquely human ability to differ, discuss, and end in agreement.

Contentedly turned in upon ourselves, absorbed in the immediacy of concentrated academics and our small society, there is a danger in narrowed experience . . . To counter the temptation of secluded self-containment, the Middlebury Conference was initiated: three days of new ideas and opinions, three days of speakers more world-involved than we . . . This year student revolts questioned the role of college education in our society . . . "The Estranged University": Is Middlebury to be a Berkeley of discontent? . . . We look to others to evaluate and turn out from ourselves.

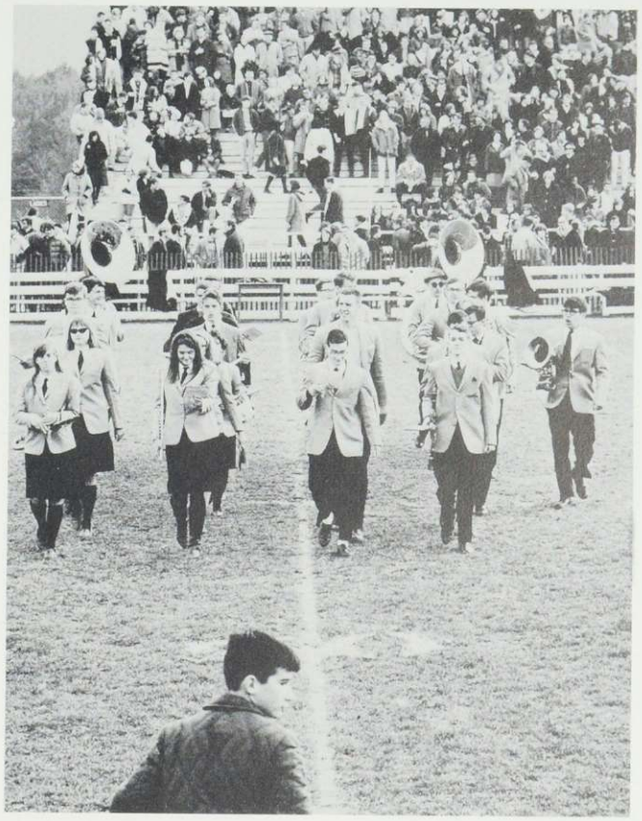
MIDDLEBURY CONFERENCE—Row 1: J. Fish, C. Clement, P. Lebenbaum, co-chairman. Row 2: A. Agrell, M. Greenfield, P. Kovner, S. Marvinney, J. Johnston, C. Tweedy, S. Swinburne.

YOUNG G.O.P.—Row 1: B. Brummett, A. Stauffer, P. Hefron. Row 2: C. Prukop, J. Glidden, O. Hage, N. Boardman, B. Exstrom, J. Rice, S. Gray, S. Jones.

CHAPEL CHOIR—Row 1: J. Graham, N. Knight, C. Sibley, M. McGill, J. Gratiot, C. Anderson, B. Zuck, C. Swanson, J. Pierpont. Row 2: C. Fried, F. Mahlmann, S. Gallagher, R. Farr, C. Steere, M. Harrington, C. Wildeman, P. Ramsey, J. Langdon, J. Viehdorfer, S. Rugg, P. Wolgamot. Row 3: T. Albright, W. Jordan, K. Johnson, S. Roush, D. Westin, J. Rowe, J. Schwartz, T. Carmen, D. Hayford, C. Deering, G. Hyde. Row 4: P. Paige, D. Robinson, E. Hann, D. McKeer, S. Curtis, B. Knapp, P. Hull, S. Shaw, C. Whall, M. Davis.

A single voice raised in muted blue or in glorious yellow a multitude of sound . . . the dignity of candlelight and prayer sung in a blend of silver and gold . . .
Black and white thunder of drums with flashing brass cymbals and horns blaring fiery red with spirit and excitement . . . multicolored spectacle of a football game . . .
Golds of brass in a melody of movement with blue winds and reeds of sustained green . . . resolution in harmony and dissonance . . . The music of Middlebury, the choir, band, and orchestra revolving in patterns of sound and color.

ORCHESTRA—Row 1: R. Moore, J. Rowe, J. Allen, C. Ogden. Row 2: Mr. L. Fink, Mr. Todd, J. Pratt, L. Emmerich, J. Hambleton, K. Tepperman, J. Gratiot.



BAND—E. Alexander, E. Buttolph, M. Davis, L. Decker, P. Degree, J. Hambleton, W. Johnson, T. Kenyon, J. Klein, B. Kurimay, L. Magnusson, S. Mallon, R. Moore, F. Myers, P. Ostrow, C. Perry, K. Post, J. Pratt, M. Pratt, E. Rhinelander, C. Sidney, A. Streit, C. Tilford, C. Wood, J. Woodworth, C. Wildeman, G. Voland, student director, R. Browne, director.

"And this next song goes out from Carol in Batt South to that MCNMWCBLin Hepburn: 'Help!' by the Beatles" . . . a freshman on his way to the Zoo blushes at the announcer's voice echoing from his neighbor's radio . . . behind the scenes a tired broadcaster lines up the next advertisement, temperature check and the results of the day's hockey game, while the technician throws the switch and settles down in an armchair after a fruitless day of wandering through the women's dorms with a portable radio.

FRONTIERS—E. Borg, S. Swinburne, R. Farr, J. Manross, C. Edwards, P. Kovner, L. Rabb, M. Lyman, M. Howden, W. Hays, M. Dunn.

Strains of "Goodnight, Little Girl, Goodnight" drift off into the night with eight retreating serenaders, hands stuffed deep into heavy overcoats . . . the entire population of the women's campus stand misty-eyed at darkened windows.

Student creation engraved in ink, letters and lines form the pattern of your art of expression . . . "And even if we don't publish your poem, it might make a spectacular illustration!"

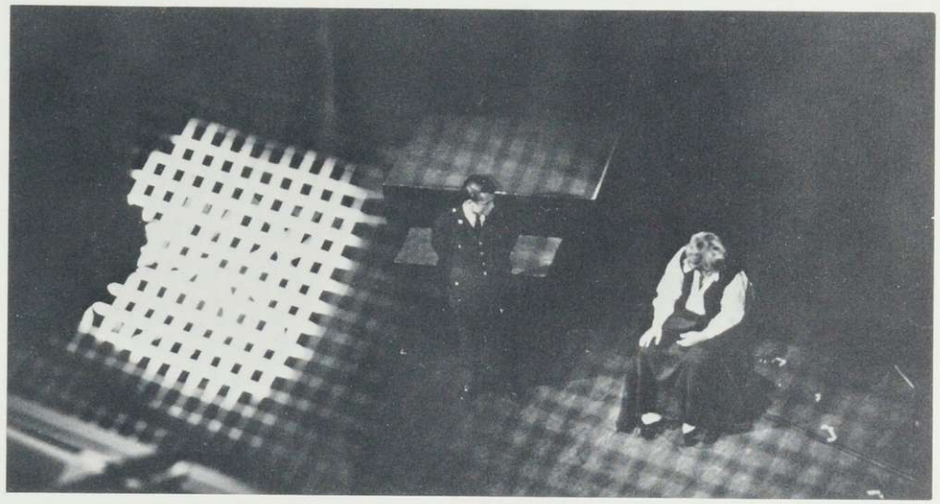
The many faces of Marlon Brando . . . or of you and the world about you . . . The jumbled foreign dialogue is forgotten in the pensive transition from their world to yours when the lights are switched on and the room is emptied.

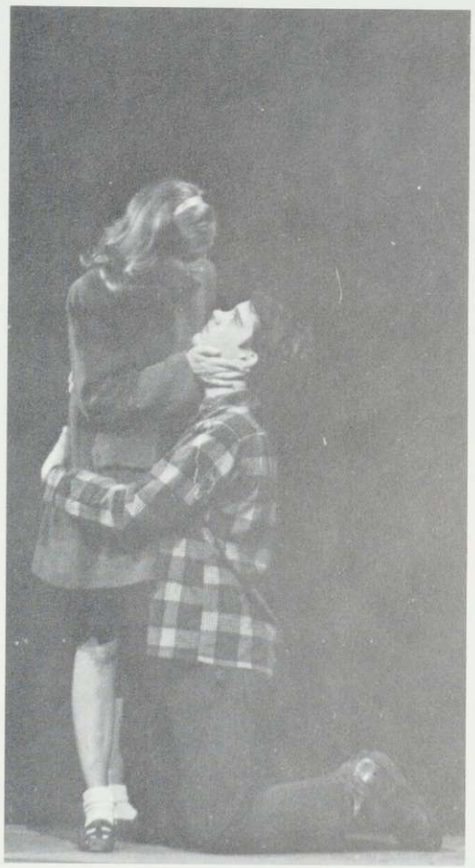
CINEMA—L. Patterson, C. Moffett, P. Allen, M. B. Walker, H. Hartley.

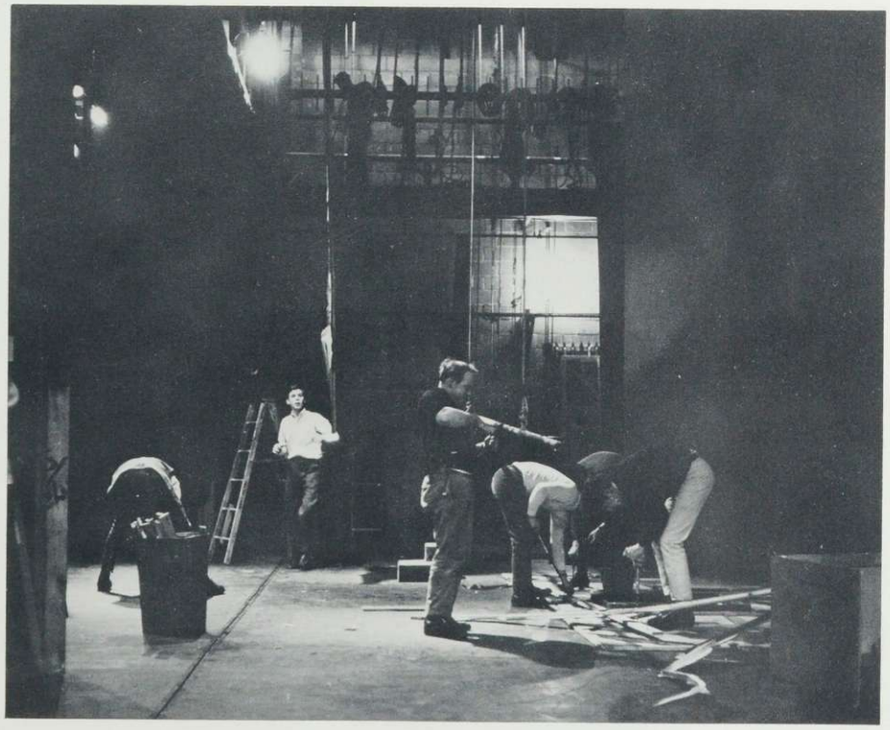
DISSIPATED EIGHT—Row 1: D. Robinson, J. Liccardi, W. Richardson, R. Kelman. Row 2: B. Kasprow, S. Baker, S. Curtiss, C. Whall.

PLAYERS—Row 1: G. Hawkins. Row 2: T. Bullard, M. Dunn, S. Smith, R. Salomon, K. Gutschenritter, P. Knobler, D. Sharpe. Row 3: M. Sevareid, R. Watson, M. Crecelius, A. Schlein, S. Shaw. Missing: T. Gardner, C. Frank, J. Brown, S. Huff, B. Johnson, P. Jackson, W. Hays, D. MacDermid, D. Porter, F. Lewis, D. Watson, J. Verlik, J. Hord, J. Manross, B. Walker, J. Najman.

A script, no longer words committed to memory, becomes a magnet control of emotion: "Don't look at him he's dead! Look at me; I'm alive!" . . . a hammer and a few nails, a needle and thread produce a world of associations: the mask, suddenly a synonym for God . . . the paint-spattered T-necks and make-up smeared costumes, the seat of dusty cut-offs worn thin cleaning the coves and corners of well-kept sets: creation and amplification, conceived by people seeking fulfillment in sawdust and grease paint, lights and words, laughs and applause.







DANCE CLUB—P. Clark, K. Bugni, L. Johnson, N. Bryant.

LIFEGUARDS—S. Rugg, J. Viehdorfer, B. Upson, D. Dain, L. Baird, D. Snyder, L. Fisher, C. Buikema, B. Calder, J. Valby, G. McAleer, J. Russell.

Behind the window at Brown pool, two white robed figures, high and dry and determined to remain so, fighting over a beach ball . . . an unbroken surface of water reflecting artificial lighting in glittering splotches . . . Suddenly, victory in a splash: a head in the center of the pool . . . two arms still clutching a red beach ball.

Ballet is a pattern of grace, whether it be on McCullough stage or in Brown pool . . . Creativity infused into patterns of natural movement.

SKYLINE—Row 1: L. Dunn, K. Unsworth, C. Shepardson, S. Lee, F. Adshead, S. Ebbler, S. Bowdish, C. Whall, M. Broughton. Row 2: B. Richardson, R. Washburne, N. Brown, J. Enright, M. Reagan, J. Ells, S. MacLean, C. Edwards, F. Fredericks. Row 3: T. Carman, J. Ragsdale, S. Hellier, D. Lippert, D. Brown, G. Harris, B. Wolcott, G. Oliver, R. Church, president.

The Mountain Club: a bus filled with new freshmen, faces flushed and woodchips in their wind-blown hair . . . an exhausted Skyline tryout in clothes still dripping from the Cascades dunking at Moosalamoo . . . mud-caked boots and sagging knapsacks . . . Dunmore picnics with dirty old men and "greenies" . . . Woodsmen's Weekend in lumberjack jackets and lumpy sleeping bags . . . the shivering schussboomers at Mad River Glen . . .

W.R.A.—J. Viehdorfer, L. Barbour, S. Rugg, L. Morse. Missing: B. McElvein.

Pre-game warm-up . . . "Panther antlered" . . . crumpled chewing gum wrappers and orange peels . . . soggy pompoms . . . behind the tense team bench, ten spirited backers rallying support.

An excuse to bounce a basketball with a team just your speed in the WRA intramurals . . . to round up the freshmen field hockey pros . . . to defeat the faculty in volleyball . . . "and we defaulted to the independents???"

"What are you doing on the Allen if this is your first time on skiis?" . . . "No, I will not give you a ride in the sled." . . . "Sorry to disappoint you, but the bag is for first aid supplies, not whiskey!"

A Carnival Committee meeting, tonight? . . . But it's only April! Dear N.B.C. . . . Rehearsal, Sunday Morning—at nine o'clock? Oh please, let there be snow.

CARNIVAL CO-CHAIRMEN—Row 1: T. Carman, G. Jones, R. Upson, K. Kirkpatrick, L. Fangel, S. Hellier, R. Lippert, J. Vollmer, S. Bunce, D. Kepple, F. Fredericks. Row 2: C. Shepherdson, R. Pounder, R. Ryder, L. Bruce, S. Mackintosh, C. Prukop, G. Oliver, R. Church, D. Richardson, J. Fish, B. Copp.
